On June 10th, Right Management, a worldwide leader in providing assistance to job seekers, is hosting a free career webinar aimed at helping attendees focus on what they can control as they manage their career in these unprecedented and ever-changing times. With unemployment at an all-time high, there is more competition than ever before when it comes to job hunting. How do you stand out or get noticed in such a saturated job market? This webinar will help attendees understand the current landscape in today's job market and equip them with the tools they need to stand out from the crowd. The panel discussions will focus on the following topics:

Secret Ingredients of a Resume

Do you want your resume to pop to the top of recruiter and decision maker desks? To ensure you stand out in a sea of resumes, you must know the secret ingredients of a successful one. This panel will discuss the #1 elements that leaders are looking for on a resume.

Virtual Presence & Interviewing

We all know that our non-verbals make up over 75% of our communication. Now that interviews have left the office and leave us talking into a computer screen or phone, it is critical that we can still make positive impressions. This panel will discuss how we can be the best versions of ourselves when that interview arrives.

Future-Proofing Your Skills

The skills needed to meet market demands are constantly changing. If you do not keep up and maintain them, how can you expect to stand out in the crowd? This panel will help participants understand what they can do today to ensure their skills are sustainable and ready for now, and the future.

Capitalizing on Your Free Time and Rebuilding Confidence

We are all familiar with the phrase "searching for a job is a full-time job." While this is very true, it is also important to spend time in other areas to make yourself the most attractive option for a company. This panel will explore how to positively impact the story you share with the market.
